Neither Government Has Formally Decided to Extend Recognition—When Word of Indorsement of Plan Is Received Meeting Will Be Called—Will Also Decide on Form of Recognition

Washington, Oct. 15.—Secretary Lansing will call a conference next week

Although formal responses have not yet been received by the Brazilian and Chilean ambassadors here to the reports sent to their governments last week after the decision to recognize Carranza, informal assurances were given in advance of the conference to diplomatic representatives of the United States in Santiago and Rio de Janeiro that Chile and Brazil were in

As soon as word is received in a formal manner through the Brazil and Chilean embassies here, the mass ing of the Pan-American conference will be called. The Argentinian ambassador and the Uruguayan minister saw Secretary Lansing today. Both had received instructions to adapt the isters, the remaining members of the conference, have had similar instructions. Although not a member of the conference, the Venezuelan minister together with other diplomatic representatives, has been instructed to take identical action with the United States.

The formal act of recognition probably will occur next week with the reception of Eliseo Arredondo, author ranza. A note very likely will be presented to him notifying him of the recognition of General Carranza as the head of the de facto government.

Reports today of activity by Carranza adherents in fomenting a revolution in Guatemala met with prompt denial at the Carranza agency. It was announced that after conferences between Carranza and the Guatemalan minister here, the subject has been brought to the attention of General Carranza, who after investigation reported that none of his men were involved and that, on the contrary, there had been reports of activity against the forces begun from the Guatemalan side of the line. An embargo on exports

Strong opinions as to the enforcement of the Supreme anti-trust law under which the directors were indicted, proved an obstacle to the selection of nearly a dozen jurors who otherwise seemed acceptable.

One of the prospective jurors charged that the government had misled him, and that he should not sit on the New York banking firm of Harlow Fisk & Co., who said he had made a study of law and thought the "rule of law" should be applied. He said the evidence could be shown conclusively that the New Haven was an unlawful combination.

Delancey Nicoll of counsel for the defendants did not fail to inquire whether the government had a case against combination.

Germany Is Only Power That Can Stop Armenian Atrocities

By The Associated Press.
London, Oct. 15.—"There is only one power that can stop the Armenian atrocities and that is Germany," declared Viscount Bryce at a meeting today at the Mansion House, in aid of the Armenian sufferers. He declared that the only remedy was to bring the pressure of world opinion, particularly of neutral opinion, to bear on Germany and force her to take action.

Viscount Bryce proposed a resolution condemning the reported atrocities which he said exceeded anything in the history of persecutions. He declared that the excuse offered by the Germans for the Turks to the effect that Armenians had rebelled, in seconding the resolution, Cardinal Bourne said that the evidence was strong that even Germany was not able to deny the massacres. Neutrals, he said, should follow the example of Pope Benedict who wrote a personal protest and plea to the Sultan. Sir Edward Pears, who had been the leader of the British bar in Constantinople, apparently surprised his hearers by saying that the persecution was not an article of Mohammedan faith and that the massacres were deplored by the mass of the Turks.

Extermination Threatened.

By The Associated Press.
Chicago, Oct. 15.—Rev. James P. McNaughton, a returned missionary from Turkey, told the laymen's missionary movement convention today that aid must be sent to Christian Armenia, where extermination, he said, confronted the remnants of a race centuries old. "That there should be a vestige of this people left after what it endured through centuries of oppression is one of the miracles of history," he said. "A systematic attempt is now being made to exterminate its people that never again will a racial aspiration swell their hearts nor Christian inspiration fill their souls." Mr. McNaughton emphasized the magnitude of the struggle in which Turkey is engaged. "Wherever our sympathies may be centered, we cannot but admire the bravery of the armies that are guarding what remains of the national heritage," he said.

Trilby Pleases Waco Audiences; Last Time Today

"Trilby" is all that was claimed for it. Manager Coke Horne of the Queen theatre had been told how fine the picture is and booked it at once for that playhouse. The film arrived yesterday and was shown all day to crowds that were enthusiastic over the excellent acting and wonderful photography. It will be shown at the Queen today for the last time. Clara Kimball Young, one of the most noted film actresses of America, who has also scored triumphs abroad, takes the part of Trilby. She adds new laurels to her already high reputation as an actress. The story of the singer who was hypnotized by Svengali's mysterious power was Du Maurier's masterpiece and the film brings back vividly the story which was so popular a generation ago.

Suspended Sentence Declared at Fault

"There are 250 criminal cases on the grand jury's docket today, where a few years ago there were only a hundred," Assistant County Attorney D. C. Wood told the jurors in the P. D. cases yesterday. "I believe the suspended sentence is the cause and that there are now more convicted crooks out of the penitentiary than there are in it." Debois was charged with forgery in four cases. He is a young man who came here from Arkansas and fell into the hands of the officers very shortly. He pleaded guilty to all four charges and asked for suspended sentences in all four of his cases. After deliberating for several hours, the jurors gave him two years in each case and suspended the sentence in three, leaving him with two years' sentence in the penitentiary operative.

Elm Street Wesleyan Banquet.

The Young Men's Wesley class of the Elm Street Methodist church were the hosts in a banquet last night given to the Philathea class of the same church as the guest of honor. The banquet was held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Lee, 502 Austin street, and attendance between the two classes during the month of August and September. Both classes were the winners in the large increased attendance and enrollment secured and kept up since that date. Some sixty or more were in attendance at the banquet.

With A. C. Carraway, the president of the Young Men's class, acting as toastmaster, the following program was rendered:

A. C. Carraway, "To the Winners." Miss Alma Jones, "The Vanquished." Mrs. J. C. Lee, Solo.

J. E. Porter of Morrow Street church, "To the Prettiest Young Lady." J. C. Lee, "To the Ugliest Young Man."

Horace Williams, "Anti-Suffragettes."

Closing address was by Rev. J. A. Whitehurst, presiding elder of the Waco district.

Interspersed with the above program were several songs by a quartet of young men composed of Messrs. Bagby, Moody, McGinty and Tucker, all from the West Side.

The building, a vacant store on Elm street, was beautifully decorated in the Wesley colors of red and white. The whole affair was arranged by the young men of the class.

MAKE PERSONAL STATEMENTS REGARDING SOUTH'S MOST WONDERFUL PRODUCT.

School teachers in most every city and town throughout the South have used Vitalitas and many with such wonderful results that they have taken the trouble to make personal reports of their cases. The following are samples of what they say:

Birmingham, Ala.—Prof. J. M. Davidson, 1311 N. 13th St., superintendent of schools at Greymont and Elyton, Ala., for fifteen years: "For fifteen years I suffered indigestion. Someone suggested I try Vitalitas and luckily I did. I consider it a most wonderful remedy."

Nashville, Tenn.—Mrs. Irene Jetton, teacher, 2502 Blakemore St.: "I find Vitalitas a splendid tonic, especially in summer when everyone feels tired and exhausted. It has a bracing up power. I recommend it. Have been a teacher most of my life."

Memphis, Tenn.—Mrs. Mary M. Price, Box 87, Route No. 2: "I have suffered for many years. I have taken Vitalitas and have been greatly benefited."

Nashville, Tenn.—Mrs. S. M. Vaughn: "My daughter has been taking Vitalitas for catarrh and a hacking cough. It has helped her in many ways. School teaching is tedious for her; she would come home worn out and nervous at times. Vitalitas has changed this to an active, lively condition."

Vitalitas is Nature's greatest tonic and corrective. Get it at Powers-Kelly Drug Co., or at any other druggist.

Cotton Palace Dog Show Will Be Howling Success

If you truly love your dog and the Texas Cotton Palace, you will prove it by entering your dog in the show to be held during the Cotton Palace.

Every dog owner in Waco is called upon to show his or her loyalty to the exposition by placing their animals in the show.

The committee is anxious to make the Cotton Palace dog show the very best in the south. This can be easily accomplished if the Waco people will do their share. At least 300 dogs should be entered from this city to make the show a brilliant and howling success. Don't wait for the committee to hunt you up and ask you to enter your dog. Show your patriotism and deep interest in the Cotton Palace by calling on W. A. Holt, who is the secretary of the committee, and tell him about the dog you have. Ralph McLendon is the chairman of the committee in charge of the dog show. If Mr. Holt happens to be busy entering some fellow's dog, call upon Mr. McLendon to tell you what is necessary to enter your dog in the show.

Do not be afraid to enter your dog in the show because you are under the impression that he is of a somewhat ordinary degree. Some dogs are like some people: they have better than others. They are through their veins than is suspected by casual observers. Many an unregistered dog has walked off with the blue ribbon, to the surprise of the owners of dogs with a pedigree a yard long. This was the case at the Cotton Palace dog show last year when a fox terrier supposed to be only an ordinary garden variety of dog, copped the blue ribbon to the surprise and utter disgust of the owners of the pedigreed and supposedly blue blooded terriers.

Your dog is liable to do the same thing this year. It would be mighty nice to have a nifty blue ribbon around the house to thrust upon the gaze of your envious neighbors and relatives when they attempt to put on too much dog.

All dogs will be fairly and impartially judged. The officials of the Cotton Palace have succeeded in again securing the services of Dr. George W. Clayton of Chicago. Dr. Clayton is one of the best known veterinarians in the country. As a judge of dogs, his reputation is second to none. The dogs are judged strictly upon their merits. Dr. Clayton has no idea what case at Whitestone, an English setter, valued at $1,000, owned by Tom Field of Calvert, is another famous entry. He has been five times a winner of field trials, and sire of four field trial winners. "Billy Sunday" will be one of the big attractions at the dog show. He is a Boston terrier and will be prepared to meet all comers at the Cotton Palace. "Lone Star Musketeer" is said to be the best bred bulldog in the south. This will be definitely decided at the Cotton Palace. He is owned by Scott Field, Jr., and Robert P. Wilcox of Calvert. These owners have also entered "Magnet Peggy," an English bulldog that won a cup at the Cotton Palace last year. Other famous dogs will be entered from various cities from New Jersey to California.

Honest Smythe.

"Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg declared in the Reichstag last month that the war was forced on Germany by her enemies. Poor Germany!" The speaker was J. Pierpont Morgan. He resumed:

"Poor Germany! She tries to make herself out a figure like little Smythe. But she won't succeed. 'Little Smythe, you know, was being examined for a life insurance policy. The doctor said to him: 'You don't dissipate, do you? You're not a viveur, man about town, rake, boozier, fast liver, anything of that sort?'"

"Well," said Smythe, in his thin treble voice and he cleared his throat, "well, doctor, I sometimes chew a little gum."

Mirrors are commonly seen hanging outside Dutch dwellings. These mirrors are so arranged that persons sitting inside the houses can, without being seen, enjoy the reflection of all that is going on in the street.

From the Trenches.

Col. E. M. House was talking in Cornish, N. H., about the war. "One good thing, at least," he said, "is that the soldiers are fed well. There's no hunger in the trenches. That is an excellent thing indeed."

"It wasn't so in former wars. An Englishman on his return from the Boer war was once congratulated by a friend."

"I am glad to see you back from the front," this friend cried. "Well," said the Englishman, "I knew that hunger had thinned me down a lot, but I didn't think I was so bad that you could see my back from the front."

Falconry, or hawking, was a favorite sport with the nobility and gentry of Europe down to the first half of the seventeenth century. Hawks were trained to mount and pursue game and bring it to their masters and mistresses, coming and going to the call of the latter with marvelous docility. The hawks were tricked out with gay hoods and held until ordered to pursue "the quarry," or game, by leathern straps fastened with rings of leather about each leg just above the talons, and silken cords called "jesses" to each of these leathern straps, or "bawets," was attached a small bell. In this flight of hawks it was often so arranged that the bells made "a consort of sweet sounds."

GOOD HEALTH EVER SINCE

Taking Cardui. Says Mother and Father Join Her in Praise of Cardui.

Athens, Ala.—"I was in good health" writes Miss Seleta McMunn of R. P. D. 5 of this place, "up until I was 13 years old, when I began to have backaches once in a while, and had pains in the abdomen.... I tried everything I ever heard of."

My aunt, —, recommended me to try Cardui, and my father got me one bottle, which did me so much good that he went back and got me six bottles for $5.00. I gradually got stronger.... I began to take Cardui in July or August, and was able to pick cotton in October. I have had good health ever since, and am able to work; have been able to enjoy my work. My health is better than it has been in all my life, from using Cardui, and I will never cease praising it, my mother and father also join me in my praise of Cardui, for I couldn't have gone on as I was and lived. I had to have something to cure me and Cardui did."

Being prepared from purely vegetable medicinal herbs, harmless and mild in action, Cardui is recommended to young and old alike.

With several new members, good attendance and unusual interest, the Sul Ross Parent-Teachers' Club has begun a new year's work. Mrs. H. H. Crouch was elected president. While discussion was informal, the mothers on Thursday discussed serving warm lunches to the children. Whatever is done along this line will be solely by the mothers. No definite action was taken but the drift of remark followed this idea.

INTERESTING GUEST COMES TO MRS. J. M. DAWSON

In the visit of Mrs. Perry O'Neil from Dallas to Mrs. J. M. Dawson within the past week, Waco entertained a young woman with connection well worth the mention. This connection is Mrs. O'Neil, a niece of Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice, who wrote the delicious humor in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and "Lovey Mary." Mrs. O'Neil reports a third book just out with Mrs. Rice as the author, a work up to the standard of the books which made this gifted southern woman's fame.

SOMETHING NEW DEVELOPS WITH THE CURIOUS PUBLIC

Miss Frances Hays, who has just returned from Washington City, brings the first personal message pertaining to the announcement of the president's coming marriage. Miss Hays reports Mrs. Galt quite the attractive woman the press has pronounced her, simple, yet tasteful in dress and with a charm of her Virginia ancestry in manner.

Quite out of the ordinary was the last session with the Social Needlecraft. This little lady was showered with nursery trifles and voted honors under new regime of officers, these being, president, Mrs. G. W. Green; vice president, Mrs. Homer Ainsworth; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. R. P. Teaff; and reporter, Mrs. H. A. Baird.

At the next meeting, which comes with Mrs. J. T. Houser, discussion will be had as to what the Social Needlecraft will do for women's work in the Cotton Palace.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS HAVE CEREMONIAL RITES

Chaperoned by Mrs. Sidney Burrows as member of the Evangelia Settlement board, the Camp Fire Girls and their director, Miss Pettit, met out at the Bosque bridge for their ceremonial. This is quite interesting and was evidently enjoyed by the participants.

The costumes are ready, made of the khaki. The girls will be decorated by the khaki. A system of honors is awarded, each distinction being a bead. For making costume, for doing act of kindness, for some report, each of these is an honor, a bead is given. Already a number of awards have been made. For Thursday afternoon, the girls built their fire and conducted the ritual in their ceremonies.

There were songs, legends and other features. Three new members were enrolled. The scene was impressive and picturesque. The Camp Fire Girls, all school girl age, will be prominent in the women's part of the Cotton Palace season.

As the games closed, three favors were presented, one for high score to Miss Lula Walton, another for consolation to Mrs. H. J. Blanchard and a third for the honor guest. WHAT IS FAME?

What is fame?
Time was when we thought we were partially prepared, at least, to answer the question. But the recent election in the New York University Senate of men and women nominated for the Hall of Fame has not only dispelled that belief but has caused us to wonder if the members of the senate know what constitutes real fame.

It's a matter of viewpoint, of course, but it certainly appears that the judgment of the senate lacks a great deal of corresponding with the judgment of the masses of the people of the country. Otherwise, we fall in our estimate of what the judgment of the country is.

John Paul Jones, creator of the American navy and one of the world's great fighters, failed of election to the Hall of Fame on the grounds, it was set forth, that after his remarkable services in the American revolution, he fought for Russia and thus became a soldier of fortune. Likewise, Patrick Henry, whose patriotic utterances contributed much to the success of the cause of American liberty and have proven an inspiration to noble deeds on the part of every American school boy since, failed of election by the narrow margin of two votes.

Further evidencing the lack of wide vision and adequate judgment on the part of the senate, it would appear, General Stonewall Jackson received only 19 of the 49 votes necessary to elect, while General Phil Sheridan, who is hardly to be mentioned in the same class with General Jackson, received the same number of votes. And such great American preachers as Roger Williams and Horace Bushnell failed of election. Probably the same senate that turned down these really great ministers would accept the names of Drs. Charles H. Parkhurst, Newell Dwight Hillis or Charles F. Aked, though the last named is an Englishman. However, living persons are ineligible to election.

Nor did many strong women of the country fare any better at the hands of those who hold the keys to the Hall of Fame. Alice Freeman Palmer, former president of Wellesley College, failed of election, along with Louisa May Alcott, famous as author of children's works; Lucretia Mott and Martha Washington. Charlotte Cushman, the actress, was the only successful woman. Other persons elected at the same time were Mark Hopkins, president of Williams College; Francis Parkman, historian; Elias Howe, inventor; Daniel Boone, pioneer; Rufus Choate, jurist and diplomat; and Joseph Henry, scientist. These are names of persons who achieved distinction in their respective spheres, yet we doubt if any one of them would have been chosen had the whole people of the United States participated in the election.

So the judgment of the senate will hardly be conclusive. And even if it were, it would make but little difference. The people as a whole are those who will ultimately pass judgment upon those whose works and deeds are worthy to survive. And those who will stand the best chance to perpetuate themselves and their works in the minds and hearts of the people who serve their own generation best and hand down to posterity the largest blessings.

Now that John Hays Hammond has approved the president's policy of preparedness, we presume further opposition will be useless.

WHY ENGLAND IS NERVOUS.

We are not surprised that the house of commons was dissatisfied with the report of Sir Edward Grey, foreign secretary for England, on the diplomatic negotiations in the Balkans when that body was infinitely more anxious to know something of the military operations there, for in the military operations in that portion of Europe during the next few months there may be involved not only the future destiny of the whole of Europe.

Germany has entered the Balkans for the purpose of forcing her way to Constantinople. She has had her eye on this important point for a long while now, and her move in that direction represents the most definite and important offensive drive she has yet undertaken, and in it she may have the best chances of success, in view of the decision of Greece, Rumania and Italy to remain neutral.

England recognizes all the large possibilities involved in the German drive and is trembling in her shoes. The London Daily Express characterizes the move as "the German challenge to Britain for the possession of the empire of the east," and adds that German triumph in that quarter would mean that "the Kaiser would control the whole of Central Europe from the Baltic to the Bosphorus." But that is not all. If Germany succeeds in establishing herself in Constantinople, she could, by only another step, take Asia Minor and Egypt under the protectorate, the Suez Canal would pass under German control, Germany would have a clear road to the Far East and thus pave the way to breaking up British rule in India, cutting off Australia and New Zealand from communication with the motherland, and strangling British trade, the one supreme object of Germany in the whole war.

Commenting upon the far-sightedness of Germany and the vacillation of England, the Baltimore Sun says: "Germany has recognized from the first that Great Britain is the life of the confederation against her, and her great object from the outset has been to get a stranglehold on that antagonist and choke it into submission. Hence her submarine warfare and her Zeppelin raids on England, and hence the promptness with which she secured the support of Turkey as essential to the far-reaching campaign which she planned. Her success in detaching Bulgaria from her natural allies and in keeping Roumania and Greece quiet even in the face of operations that clearly imperil their future indicates how earnestly she has worked against British diplomacy in those quarters, how much importance she attached to this move on the chessboard, and how intimately it was connected with the general scheme which she had marked out for herself.

"The contrast between Germany and Great Britain has been the contrast between a trained and scientific nation and an untrained and unscientific one. Germany had made a military survey of the whole situation before the war began, and she has developed her campaigns on a regular and scientific basis, with a view always to getting that fatal underhand on her British antagonist. Great Britain has been fighting gallantly, but in a haphazard, happy-go-lucky style, with scarcely any broad science or prevision, rarely anticipating Germany's next move, doing the wrong thing too late.

"Her national supremacy trembles in the balance. The next two or three months may decide her fate."

We frankly admit that talking through the air is a great achievement, but do not believe it will displace the time-honored custom of talking through your hat, declares the New Orleans States.

One good thing about those winter rates to Waco is that they begin in time for our friends from the North to come down and pay a visit to the Cotton Palace, the South's most unique exposition, November 6-21.

For many months President Wilson has devoted practically all his time to the consideration of our foreign relations, observes the New Orleans States, but it will not be long before he will find it necessary to give some attention to domestic affairs.

That $2,825.80 which each member of the champion Red Sox team received is a very fair recognition of their superior playing abilities, while the $2,492.23 received by each of the Phillies will no doubt prove a very effective balm for their wounded feelings in the defeat in the world series.

CITIZENS' COUNCIL EXPLAINED HALF FALLS COUNTY WITHOUT SALOONS

John R. Spencer Outlines Some of Details of Proposed Change in Waco Charter.

To the Waco Morning News:
Believing that our municipal government should be made more responsive to the will of the people; that the voters would take more interest in city affairs if they could readily express their wishes as to city legislation in an effective way; that it should be the desire of every public servant to pursue such policies and enact such ordinances as will be approved by a majority of the citizens; that condemnation of official acts and charges of graft and corruption against our city officers, whether warranted or not are mainly provoked by the helplessness of citizens to correct any act of the board of commissioners, or to readily initiate any municipal policy or propose needed or beneficial legislation, has inspired the proposition to erect a citizens' council as a citizens' link, bringing the people and the heads of the city government into closer touch, giving the government a better understanding of the wishes of their constituents, and at the same time giving those they represent power to effectively instruct them, as other agents are instructed by their employers.

The following suggested provisions for a citizens' council will probably explain the proposition more satisfactorily than any general description:

Art. — The citizens' council shall be composed of ten delegates from each ward, with fifteen to twenty-five elected from the city at large, making a body of seventy-five to eighty-five members, who shall serve without compensation.

Art. — It shall elect a chairman and secretary and adopt rules of procedure. It shall meet monthly for the purpose of discussing city affairs, and the meetings shall be furnished by the city secretary with a copy of the proceedings of the board of commissioners. It shall have power to advise the board of commissioners as to policies to be pursued, initiate ordinances and invoke the referendum as hereafter provided. Twenty-five members shall constitute a quorum for transaction of business and a majority of those present shall decide all questions except recall of officers.

Art. — If a majority of the members present at any meeting of the citizens' council shall propose an ordinance, the board of commissioners shall, in not less than thirty or more than forty days after such disapproval, submit the ordinance to a referendum vote, the board having the option to submit at the same time a substitute ordinance.

Art. — If a majority of those present at the meeting of the citizens' council object to or disapprove any ordinance under consideration or within thirty days after its passage by the board of commissioners, then a committee shall be appointed to confer with the board of commissioners with a view of reaching an agreement in regard thereto, and no ordinance shall go into effect for thirty days after such agreement, for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, and not then, if objection is made by the citizens' council, until the report of the conference committee is approved, and the amendments agreed to are made.

If no agreement can be reached, then the board of commissioners must submit the ordinance, together with a substitute ordinance which may be proposed, to the citizens' council, for a referendum vote, not less than thirty nor more than forty days after the final vote of a disagreement by the citizens' council.

The recall of any officer may be invoked by three-fourths of the full membership of the citizens' council.

Respectfully,
JOHN R. SPENCER.

Trouble from Strike of Garment Workers

By The Associated Press.
Chicago, Oct. 15.—Police fired a volley of shots late today at a speeding automobile bearing the manager and the employee of a large downtown tailoring establishment, to the occupants of the car, H. T. Sessler and Fred Berger, were arrested and placed in a cell after a chase by police in automobiles. A charge of coercion growing out of the present strike of garment workers was made against the two men by a garment worker who said they had tried to force him to work for the firm they represented.

Club women today defied police orders barring picketers from territory within a block of clothing factories affected by the strike of tailors and garment workers. Many prominent women, including Mrs. Medill McCormick, Mrs. Ellen Gates Starr and others, participated in the defiance. Earlier in the day Acting Mayor Moorhouse refused to revoke the licenses of special police in the employ of manufacturers although the council committee which has been investigating the strike unanimously passed a resolution calling for this action last night.

Cabarets were to be given in three large halls tomorrow night, beginning at midnight to keep up the interest of the men and women who are serving as pickets in the tailors' strike. This plan was announced by strike leaders today.

Rain at Vernon.

By The Associated Press.
Vernon, Oct. 15.—Heavy rain began here this morning causing great annoyance to cotton farmers. If dry weather does not come soon it is feared cotton receipts will be materially decreased. Wheat farmers, however, welcome the rain.

WARPATH WILL BE BETTER THAN EVER

COTTON PALACE DIRECTORS SIGN
CONTRACT FOR FIFTEEN SHOWS OF HIGH QUALITY.

GOOD PROGRESS AT GROUNDS

Made-in-Waco and Agricultural Buildings
Already Have Every Inch of Exhibit Space Taken.

Contracts were signed yesterday for the Warpath attractions at the Cotton Palace, the directors meeting at the grounds. Representatives of the directorate have inspected shows all over the country and by waiting, the pick of the country has been obtained for the 1915 Cotton Palace.

There will be fifteen shows on the Warpath, all high-class and moral. At least two free attractions will be secured for the race track, to be used between the races, and a big free attraction will be secured for the Warpath, with two performances daily. The directors are very much pleased with having secured the shows they have, the owners being among the leading carnival men of the United States.

The directors also took occasion to inspect the grounds. They discovered that fine progress was being made on getting the race track in the pink of condition and in completing the grandstand and smoothing over the football field. The grandstand will be one of the finest and most substantial in Texas.

It was decided to charge 25c for automobiles to enter the ground and to provide a space back of the coliseum where owners could leave their cars without additional expense. Autos will be allowed to come in at the Clay Street entrance and thus they will not have to cut clear across the grounds.

Every foot of space has been sold in the Made-in-Waco building, formerly machinery hall, and it was also reported that the agricultural building, formerly floral hall, is full to its capacity now and that arrangements are being made for overflow exhibit space. Most of the space is taken in the main building and more exhibits are assured now than have ever before been brought to the Cotton Palace.

Publicity Director W. D. Crawford yesterday received a letter from A. L. Blanchard, secretary of the Hillsboro Y. M. B. L., asking for fifty children's tickets as a starter. The Hillsboro people had already bought 300 tickets and are scattering hundreds all over Hill county, urging everybody to go to the Cotton Palace on Hillsboro and Hill County Day.

The directors selected 105 South Fourth street, next door to Herz Brothers, as the place where season tickets would be sold. They will go on sale Monday and W. W. Pryor or his assistant will be on hand each day until the Cotton Palace opens. Season tickets are $3 for adults, $1.50 for children under 15 years of age. Out-of-town people can secure season tickets, the same as Wacoans, by simply sending their money to W. W. Pryor, 108 South Fourth street, Waco, Texas. The season tickets admit to all coliseum attractions, the Cotton Palace being the only big exposition in Texas, it is said, where this rule is in effect.

Think Germany and Austria Have Plans of Forts in the U. S.

By The Associated Press.

New York, Oct. 15.—With the indictment today of Max Lynar, also known as Count Max Lynar, London, on a charge of bigamy, United States secret service agents began an investigation of the recent alleged activities of a man who under the name of Lynar is said to have done confidential work in this country for the German and Austrian governments.

Officials have heard a report that detailed plans and sketches of certain fortifications around New York harbor were sent to Berlin by two secret messengers during July. The steamship on which they sailed was searched at Falmouth, England, for the messengers whose presence aboard had been called to the British admiralty, but they were not found.

At Rotterdam the ship was again searched. The messengers were reported to have eluded the British consul, landed at Rotterdam with the plans of the forts in their possession and proceeded thence to the German capital.

The name of one of the alleged messengers, the steamer upon which they were said to have sailed, the date of its departure from New York and arrival at Rotterdam were in the possession of the secret service. The investigation was conducted with a view to determining just what plans, if any, were carried to Berlin by the alleged messengers and through what agencies they were obtained.

Lynar's application for an American passport was made, it was said, after the departure of this vessel from New York. The man known as Lynar remained in New York after the alleged messengers sailed secretly from this port. Norbert Fuller, at one time London's chauffeur, dresses in ivory so like the uniform of the national guard that he was arrested last July at the instance of a national guardsman. It is said that Fuller set at rest a report that the chauffeur dressed as a United States soldier, had obtained admission to forts about New York harbor and had made secret plans of them.

Governor's Staff Will Be One Short at Fair Opening

Governor James E. Ferguson will open the State fair at Dallas today without the assistance of one member of his staff, George S. McGhee, who said yesterday that he had just recovered from an attack of grippe and was not in shape for "military duty."

The opening of the fair is done in style, the governor and his staff appearing in full military uniform with badges and medals galore adorning their manly breasts. Governor Ferguson appointed two Wacoans on his staff, Mr. McGhee and Richard Jurney. But he will have to open the 1915 fair without Mr. McGhee's assistance.

Edward Rotan Says War Contracts Seem to Interest Canada

Prominent Waco Financier Returns from Extended Trip to East and West.

Edward Rotan, president of the First National bank, has returned from an extended absence, his tour including the west and the Pacific coast expositions, a trip across Canada on the Canadian Pacific, and a stay of several weeks at his summer home near Gloucester, Mr. Rotan was much impressed with Western Canada, along the line of the Canadian Pacific between Alberta and Winnipeg, declaring that the immense grain crops of this section make one of the barbed of the world.

Canadians are seemingly less interested in the actual fighting in Europe than in the disclosure of graft in the provincial government and in the contracts for furnishing war supplies to the mother countries, according to Mr. Rotan, who made the reservation that a traveler along the tourist routes had little opportunity to judge the temper of the people, meeting only other tourists and cosmopolitans. Mr. Rotan left Waco in the spring, joining Mrs. Rotan and their daughter, Mrs. Thorndike Howe, of Massachusetts, at Salt Lake.

Dancer Debaters Elected at Baylor

The teams representing the two men's literary societies were elected last night in the regular meetings of the Philomathean and the Erisophian to represent these organizations in the contest known as the Dancer debate. Representing the Sophians, T. E. Sandford, E. D. Head and F. A. Goddard were elected against G. J. Rousseau, H. W. Walker and L. N. Hale of the Philos.

The Philos will select a subject to present to the Sophians who will approve it and take sides on the contest. This will be arranged within the next few days as the debate will be held in the early part of January.

The Dancer, as the contest is known, is one of the most important intersociety contests of the year and the fight put up by both sides will be the supreme efforts of the young men representing the bodies. The prize is a beautiful diamond set medal and the winner and the man winning second place will represent Baylor in an intercollegiate contest which will be held later in the winter. The two men winning the next two places will go against the second important contest with another college. These last two contests are usually with colleges from out the state and are the features of the year.

EVERY THREE MINUTES ONE DIES IN THE U. S.

The Anti-Tuberculosis Society illustrates the frightful toll of consumption by extinguishing a light every three minutes, and shows that it is the man or woman, girl or boy, who neglects colds, whose blood is impure, who feels weak and languid, who is the very one to contract tuberculosis—and none are immune.

During changing seasons, or after sickness, blood-quality is most important, and if you and your family will take Scott's Emulsion after meals it will charge your blood with health-sustaining richness, quicken circulation, and strengthen both lungs and throat. WACO DAY PARADE TO BE BIG EVENT

Watch out for the parade. Which one? Why, the Waco Day parade, for it will be the greatest thing of the kind ever staged in Texas, probably in the Southwest. Tuesday, Nov. 9, will be Waco Day at the Cotton Palace and the parade will be one of the unique features of this year's Cotton Palace.

Every merchant in Waco is invited to participate. The committee, consisting of W. H. Hoffmann, chairman; F. E. Goodman and L. Migel, was busy yesterday sending out notices to the merchants. The committee expects to follow this up on Tuesday with personal visits. Some of the leading merchants of Waco have promised to prepare beautiful and symbolic floats for the occasion.

Mayor Higgins and the city commissioners will be invited to take part in the parade. As in times past, it is planned to have every vehicle owned by the city in line, the fire department, both military companies, the Boy Scouts, fraternal orders which have uniformed ranks and the automobile and bicycle dealers will also be asked to get in line with their newest cars or bicycles.

As Tuesday, Nov. 9, is also Labor Day, it is expected that a number of the union labor organizations will be represented in the line of march. No Labor Day parade was given on the first Monday in September this year and many of the unions, it is hoped, will prepare floats to help make the Waco Day parade an unequalled success.

Teachers May Take All Examinations Needed to Get Grade

In the future teachers who are taking examinations to "build" certificates from a lower to a higher grade may take as many examinations on any one course as desired, counting only the highest marking received in their average. A letter from State Superintendent Doughty to Prof. R. L. Abbott, county superintendent, explained this new rule in the following language:

"Hereafter all applicants for certificates under the building process need not serve notice for the cancellation of grades for the purpose of building. The applicant may take any of the first-grade or permanent subjects as many times as desired and the highest grade on any subject will be counted in the compiled or final report."

"When the applicant has completed, to his satisfaction, the building process, he will serve notice to that effect by mailing to the state department of education all examination reports and a certificate on which he has based the building process, with request for the higher grade certificate."

Jewelry Auctions at Hafner-Anderson's

A series of auction sales designed to dispose of $20,000 worth of stock began yesterday at the Hafner-Anderson store. Included in the sale will be diamonds, watches, cut glass, all other kinds of jewelry and novelties. Several pianos will also be offered for the bidding.

Seats have been provided, and yesterday and last night carnations were given as souvenirs to the ladies attending the sales. Two sales will be held daily at the store, at 3:30 in the afternoon and at 7:30 at night. The store will remain open between sales in order that prospective buyers may inspect the stock and select articles which they wish to bid upon.

Governor Ferguson to Open Dallas Fair

Special to the Morning News. Dallas, Texas, Oct. 15.—Governor Ferguson is here for the opening of the Texas State fair. The gates will be thrown open at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. A parade will precede the formal opening. A record breaking first day's attendance is predicted. The feature entertainment for the afternoon will be the Trinity-Baylor football game.

Gentlemen:

It affords me great pleasure to testify to the merits of the "Ziegler" Hot Blast Gas Heater purchased from you.

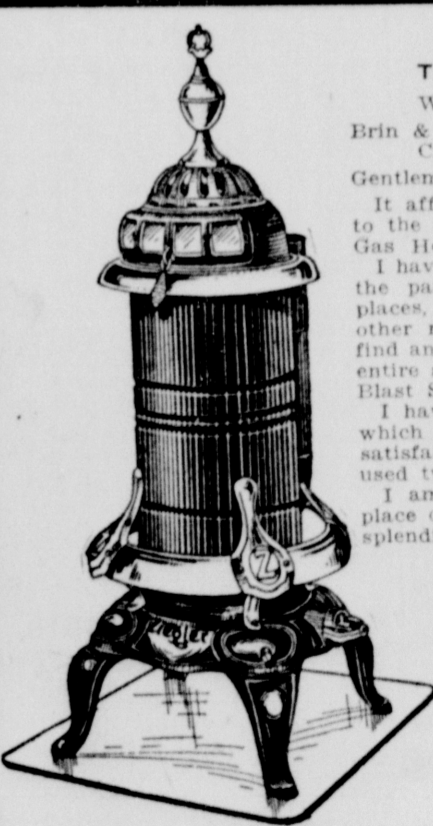

I have been the user of natural gas for the past ten years here and at other places, and have used practically all other makes of stoves. I have yet to find any gas stove that has given me the entire satisfaction that the "Ziegler" Hot Blast Stove has.

I have a "Ziegler" Stove in my home, which is heating three rooms in a most satisfactory manner. Last winter I used two stoves to do this same work.

I am also using the "Ziegler" in my place of business and it is giving a most splendid heat and I can simply state that without a doubt the "Ziegler" Heater is the best on earth.

I find that with the "Ziegler" Stove I am able to get direct heat instantaneously and on the floor, where it is most needed. No other gas stove has ever done this for me.

Yours truly,
J. F. RIGGS.

MARKET REPORT

COTTON

New York, Oct. 15.—Bullish crop and weather reports caused a sharp rise in the cotton market today, but the demand became weaker around 12.80 for January contracts and prices later eased off under realizing or selling for a reaction, with the general list closing at a net gain of 7 to 11 points for the day.

The market opened steady at a decline of 1 point on December, but generally 5 to 10 points higher, and showed considerable strength during the early trading. Prospects that the heavy rains in the western belt would be followed by another cold spell appeared to bring fresh buyers into the market, while there was considerable covering by recent sellers on the advance, which carried December contracts up to 12.70 and March to 13.12, or about 19 to 23 points net higher.

The report of a local crop authority estimating that 52 per cent of the cotton had been ginned prior to October 9, this year, compared with a ten-year average of 47 per cent to October 18, and that 60 per cent had been picked, doubtless contributed to the buying movement. Buying tapered off on the advance, however, and subsequent selling, with the failure of the unfavorable crop news to inspire a more active general demand seemed to create rather a more reactionary sentiment.

Closing prices showed reactions of 10 or 12 points on the high level of the morning. Wall street and southern houses were among the buyers of the day, with a little talk of hedge selling during the day.

NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, Oct. 15.—Cotton had a steady undercurrent in the local market today and stood at a net advance throughout the session, but prices were held down by continued limitation of the long account. The news of the day was bullish, and sentiment in favor of the market increased. Bears, however, appeared decidedly overbought. The net change for the day was an advance of 6 to 10 points.

In the early trading prices were 11 to 13 points upon unsatisfactory weather reports that the cotton belt was not over the belt. Cables were poor but the report by a private bureau that the crop was 60 per cent ginned increased the price to 12.70 and the market was widened to 19 to 21 points above noon. This was the highest level of the day.

After the noon hour, unloading of long cotton was more in evidence than ever and the market sagged. The volume of business was large. The best support appeared to come from outside traders.

Weekly Cotton Review.
New York, Oct. 15.—The appearance of light to heavy frosts in the northern part of the cotton belt, with killing frosts at a number of points, was followed by a sharp advance in the price of cotton during the early part of the week. Many who had taken profits on long cotton seemed to be replacing the contracts on Wednesday. The market was sold up to 13.08, or practically three dollars a bale above the low point reached on the reaction and 12 to 13 points of the previous high record.

At this level, however, realizing became more active and sentiment was temporarily improved by reports that the cotton futures act had been pronounced unconstitutional in the district court. This apparently led to some apprehension of a change in the status of the contract and while nervousness in this respect was quickly removed by a statement by the board of managers that no change was contemplated in the by-laws or trading rules, the market since has been less active with fluctuating irregular.

Southern advices reaching the trace here have remained generally bullish, both as to crop and statement of conditions, and there was quite a sharp rally in the market today on prospects that further heavy rains in the cotton belt would be followed by another cold spell, but crop estimates already had been scaled down to such small figures that these later reports failed to materially stimulate demand.

Estimates that domestic spinners will require fully six and one-half million bales of lint and linters for the season were considered in line with the census report on supply and distribution showing the actual consumption for September, but reactionary or bearish traders now are talking of a disappointing export demand, owing partly to the action of the market war area and contend that the action of the market has suggested more or less hesitation on the part of buyers, and a lowering advance above the 13-cent level pending fresh development.

Private cables from Bombay say the latest advices of the Indian crop range around 4,000,000 bales, compared with 5,000,000 last year, and unfavorable reports from the Egyptian crop are supposed to be partly responsible for the strength of Sea Island and long staple cotton in the domestic market.

ENGINEER DECLARES $75,000 IS ENOUGH

DALLAS DIRECTOR OF SANITATION APPROVES PROPOSED SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT.

TOPOGRAPHY IS FAVORABLE

Situation Here Is Such That Waco Can Build Cheaper Than Other Cities.

The sewage disposal plant which Mayor Higgins and Engineer H. E. Elrod propose to build for Waco at a cost of not more than $75,000 will be of sufficient capacity for the city and will attain a higher efficiency than the system which Dallas is building at a cost of $192,000, was the statement of Chas. Saville, director of sanitation of the city of Dallas, and one of the best known sanitary engineers in the south, who took part in a conference at the city hall last night. The $892,000 being spent by Dallas to provide the same system which will cost Waco only one-twelfth of that amount, said Mr. Saville, goes largely into construction of connecting sewer mains, pumping stations, etc., to carry the sewage to the disposal plant made necessary by the topography of the city. Waco, he said, on account of its fortunate topography, has only to provide the plant itself, with only additional item of $22,000 for a single main to carry the sewage from the point where it is now emptied into the river at the foot of Mary street to the spot half a mile down the river where it is proposed to locate the disposal plant.

For the actual construction of the disposal plant, which consists of the Imhoff tanks, the same as provided in Engineer Elrod's plans for Waco, Dallas is spending only $52,000, which sum will provide a plant of sufficient capacity to care for the sewage of a city of 200,000 population. The remainder of the $892,000 is being expended to overcome unfavorable topographical conditions which do not exist in Waco, was the statement of Mr. Saville. Dallas at present empties her sewage into the Trinity at five points. To connect these main sewers, intercepting mains are being built at a cost of $192,000. The sewage of Waco is emptied into the Brazos at one point, easily accessible to the site of the proposed plant.

Situation in Dallas.

Dallas also was forced to install a pumping station and a force main to raise the sewage to the disposal plant which is located three miles from the city, the cost being $208,000. The site of the proposed plant is low enough below the city to enable the sewage to flow through a main by gravitation, eliminating the more than $200,000 for a pumping station and force main. In addition Dallas is providing offices, laboratories and other incidentals at a cost of $10,000 that are not contemplated in Engineer Elrod's plans for the Waco plant.

Mr. Saville gave complete endorsement to the plans prepared by Mr. Elrod, stating that by the process of disinfecting the sewage at the plant Waco will have a more efficient plant than Dallas where such a process has not been provided for.

The original estimates for the Dallas system provided a secondary treatment of sewage by sprinkling filters, to follow the treatment in the Imhoff tanks, said Mr. Saville, but on account of a shortage of funds it had been decided not to install this feature at once. Waco could also install sprinkling filters at a later date, if it is seen that they are needed, or if the state board of health should require a higher stage of purification than is delivered by the Imhoff tanks alone, said Mr. Saville.

"The course being followed by all the cities that are making efforts to comply with the state law," said Mr. Saville, "is to go as far as they can toward a perfect system with the money they have, with the view that additional processes of purification will be added later if necessary when more money can be had."

treatment similar, is necessary to all systems of a complete purification as a primary treatment, was the opinion of the distinguished engineer, Dallas, he said, had no intention of installing at present any additional processes to the Imhoff system.

That the $75,000 bond issue would be ample to construct an adequate and sufficiently efficient plant for the needs of Waco was Mr. Saville's unreserved opinion, and he added that the people of the city should vote the bonds and thank their stars for the fortunate topography of the city which makes the small amount possible.

The figures presented by Mr. Saville and which are confirmed by a statement from Tom Fountain, chief of sewers of the engineering department of the city of Dallas, in a letter to Mayor Higgins yesterday, furnish an eloquent testimonial to the influence of topography on the cost of municipal sewage disposal plants.

What Dallas Paid.

Following is the division by items of the $892,000 Dallas will have to pay for the disposal of its sewage to comply with the state law:

Intercepting mains to connect the five great sewers which empty the city's sewage into the Trinity at widely separated points.....	$192,000
Pumping station and force main to lift entire sewage of the city several feet and force it through a force main three miles long to the disposal plant.....	100,000
Force main to carry sewage from pumping station to disposal plant.....	108,000
Offices, laboratories and incidentals.....	10,000
Total cost of getting sewage to disposal plant.....	$410,200
Sewage disposal plant equipped with Imhoff tanks to dispose of 20,000,000 gallons of sewage daily, waste of city of 200,000 inhabitants.....	482,000
Total cost.....	$892,200

Cost Reduced in Waco.

How the cost of the Waco plant is reduced by the topography of the city, which only requires one additional sewer half a mile long to carry the sewage from where it now empties into the river at the foot of Mary street to the proposed site of the plant down the river, is shown by the following figures:

Main from Mary street to plant site.....	$22,000
Total cost of getting sewage to plant.....	$22,000
Sewage disposal plant equipped with Imhoff tanks to care for 3000 gallons of sewage per day, waste of city of 40,000 inhabitants, and including a disinfecting process to rid sewage of any disease germs.....	42,000
Total estimated cost.....	$64,000

Margin Is Allowed.

The margin of $11,000 between the bond issue of $75,000 and the estimated cost of the plant, allows ample funds to care for any unexpected expense that might arise during construction.

Mr. Saville stated that for the actual disposal plant Waco would spend $1.05 per capita as against 70c for Dallas.

If, at a later date, Waco should decide to install a secondary treatment for sewage, in order to attain a higher degree of purity than is accorded by the Imhoff system, said Mr. Saville, a sprinkling filter system of sufficient capacity to care for the sewage of the city could be installed at cost of $100,000. Mr. Saville dwelt upon the fact that Mr. Elrod's plans call for a unit system that can be added to at a minimum expense as the city grows larger.

Maintenance Cost Small.

Responding to a question from one of the spectators in the commission chamber, where the conference was held, Mr. Saville stated that the cost of maintenance of the plant as proposed for Waco would be under $10 per day. He also answered another question by stating that the disposal plant would be arranged and protected so as not to be affected by changes in the level of the river. Replying to another question, he gave the information that the Imhoff system was the same as was being built by Fort Worth, Dallas and Austin, and other cities in the state. The relation of the volume of the river to pollution from the sewage emptied into it was explained by Mr. Saville, who said that Fort Worth, which empties sewage into the Trinity, is planning to use the Imhoff system unaided by other methods of purification, and pointed out that on account of the greater volume of the Brazos, Waco would be better protected than Fort Worth.

Engineer H. E. Elrod, who prepared the plans for the proposed Waco plant, presented some figures showing average costs of 200 of the 640 municipal disposal plants of the United States, to show that the per capita cost of the Waco plant was approximately the same as in other cities, as an answer to the question that has been raised in some public discussions of the matter as to the adequacy of the $75,000 bond issue that is proposed for the plant. Superintendent S. J. Quay of the city waterworks, who was present, presented some figures showing the pollution of the river water as it comes into the filtration plant which furnishes a large part of the city water supply. The table showed that during the month of May the maximum pollution was a count of 68,000 bacteria to the cubic centimeter. Mr. Quay stated that the highest allowable count for filtered water is 100 to the cubic centimeter.

It is unreasonable to expect a city to deliver sewage into a river at a higher stage of purity than the river itself, said Mr. Saville, discussing the figures presented by Mr. Quay. He said the purposes of sewage disposal plants were to remove the disease germs from the sewage in order that the inhabitants of the city or of the territory along the river might not be endangered; to remove the solids which might be deposited along the river banks and form a nuisance; and to remove the suspended organic matter which forms an offensive liquid matter that would create an odor if emptied into the stream. He said that the fact that the filtration plant being operated by the city protects the water supply against a watershed of 39,000 square miles was ample to show that the proposed system would purify the sewage to an extent that would satisfy the state law.

Plans Up to Werenskiold.

According to an agreement reached several days ago between Mayor Higgins, Engineer Elrod, V. E. Ehlers, state sanitary engineer and Dr. W. B. Collins, chairman of the state health board, the plans for the proposed plant will be submitted today to S. Werenskiold of Dallas, the engineer who built the water filtration plant for Waco, and who enjoys the confidence of the engineering profession of the country as well as that of the Waco people. Upon his approval or disapproval will rest the decision as to whether the plans will be accepted. Dr. Collins while in the city this week stated that the state board of health would approve the plant if built under plans approved by Mr. Werenskiold.

"It is up to the people to vote the bonds or reject them in the election Tuesday," said Mayor Higgins last night. "I personally have devoted much time to collecting data, which I think has been very valuable. We have tried not to mislead the people and have given the actual cost of building the plant under the favorable conditions which Waco enjoys. If Waco does not build the plant for herself the state will do it, and it will cost the city far more than $75,000." Among those present at the conference last night besides Mayor Higgins, Mr. Saville and Mr. Elrod, was Senator A. R. McCullum, who has taken considerable interest in the matter and whose influence in the state senate the time limit allowed cities in which to build disposal plants was extended.

Old Folks' Service Is Well Attended

The old folks' service at Herring Avenue Methodist church yesterday morning was well attended, the honored guests many of them, being brought by friends and members of the church in carriages or automobiles. Rev. R. E. Brown, the pastor, preached on "Heaven," and at the conclusion of the service the old people lined up in front and all present gave them a hearty handshake and thanked them for the inspiration furnished through their attendance.

Old songs were sung, led by W. M. Bowden of Brownwood, and the quavering voices of those who had been active in days by joined in the words and melodies so dear to them. Many of the older persons lingered for quite awhile after the services and enjoyed each other's company, talking about old times when they were young. Probably the best crowd yet attended the meeting last night. The pastor preached on Matthew 27:22, "What Shall I Do with Jesus?" Most of those present were church members and all expressed themselves as determined to redouble their energies.

There will be no service this morning, but the regular service will be held tonight, as usual.
